- 1 Seat Width - Use this to measure seat width at its widest point. Measure to nearest inch.
- 2 Widest Point - Measure the widest areas across the lower extremities if different from the hip width.
- 3 Width - This measurement may influence hip width of arm style. Consider bulk of clothing, particularly a heavy winter coat, if relevant.
- 4 Hanger Angle and Length - Determines how far the toes extend away from the body, measure from the horizontal. A tighter angle allows the electric power wheelchair to turn around in less space. Depends in part on ability of the knee to bend towards the perpendicular.
- 5 Seat Depth/ Seat reference point to Knee - This will determine the seat depth. Some prefer more leg overhang to make room for their hand when lifting their leg.
- 6 Armrest Height - Measure from the seat base to the top of the arm pad.
- 7 Back Height - Measure from the seat base to the top of the chair back. Power wheelchair users need upper back support, particularly for the moment of initial acceleration.
